

BREAST CANCER FOCUS

Breast cancer is the leading cause of death in women. It is not the primary breast tumour, but the metastases that are responsible for the high incidences of death. Although medical advances have been able to decrease the mortality rate, more and more women are developing breast cancer each year.¹

HER2/ErbB2: Breast cancer diagnosis

HER2/ErbB2 (human epidermal growth factor) is a protein that can affect the growth of several cancer cells, and its overexpression has been reported in numerous cancers, including breast and ovarian tumors. HER2 is a therapeutic target for the treatment of breast cancer.^{2,3}

Immunohistochemical staining of paraffin-embedded human breast cancer using HER2/ErbB2 antibody (51105-1-AP) at a dilution of 1:50 (40x objective).

PAX8: Promoting breast cancer proliferation

PAX8 is a member of the paired box (PAX) family, and it is involved in oncogenesis. Several recent studies have shown that PAX8 facilitates important regulatory roles in breast cancer cell proliferation and tumor progression.^{4,5}

ESR/ER

The estrogen receptor (ESR/ER) is a ligand-activated transcription factor composed of several domains important for hormone binding, DNA binding, and activation of transcription. Expression and mutation of ESR/ER are common features in breast cancer.^{6,7}

Immunohistochemical staining of paraffin-embedded human breast cancer using ER antibody (21244-1-AP) at a dilution of 1:25 (40x objective). Heat-mediated antigen retrieval with Citric acid buffer, pH6.0.
